

Investing capital at the very earliest point of innovation

Our vision is a country that backs its researchers for the intellectual capital advantage they provide.

Our mission is to back this talent, entrepreneurs and innovators to take these ideas and concepts to the world and create its own self-funding eco-system that results in the formation of new industries.

The team behind Significant has been uncovering and investing in applied technology innovation for over twenty years. We back the market-gap or disruptive idea and create fast growth trajectory commercialisation pathways to generate targeted impact.

Through our 4-way all-encompassing unique eco-system, our university investor partners provide us with access to the 'very earliest' investment opportunities possible, opening the door to concepts, ideas and innovations well before other venture capital funds.

A Different Investing Model

Our competitive advantage is our investor partner universities – the ANU and four regional universities and their innovation hubs.

We actively lever the networks, talent of our industry and our investment relationships to support the development of our investee companies by providing the much-needed access to talent.

We work tirelessly for the success of the founders we mentor, the companies we invest in and the investors that believe that making an impact early is critical to our future.

We recognise that not every great innovation needs to be a unicorn. We look for technology advantage, deep niche global markets, scalability and talented technical teams. The rest can be built.

We shape by actively evaluating each opportunity on its merits against the UN Sustainable Development Goals (UN SDG) and ensure they make a meaningful contribution to at least two of the 17 SDG's.
